A Contract with God and Other Tenement Stories is a graphic novel by American cartoonist Will Eisner published in 1978. The book's short story cycle revolves around poor Jewish characters who live in a tenement in New York City. Eisner produced two sequels set in the same tenement: A Life Force in 1988, and Dropsie Avenue in 1995. Though the term "graphic novel" did not originate with Eisner, the book is credited with popularizing its use.

A Contract with God - Wikipedia

A Contract with God manages to convey real life stories in a style that has far surpassed just competency. Eisner managed to show the world that the combination of words and art can be used for more than just Superhero fantasy, by integrating the narrative into the art, Eisner creates something far superior. Mark Williams ' Contract with God I give myself wholly to You God, a living sacrifice, a bondservant, a slave to be used however You want Lord. With your help, I will crawl back up on the altar every time I slip down. The world has yet to see what can be accomplished by a person wholly devoted to God, but I endeavor to be that person.

Have You Made A Contract With God? - Mark Williams
Jesus was teaching that God does not make contracts. God makes covenants. God ' s covenant says, “ I will be your God and you will be my people. ” All we have to do is say, “ okay. ” There is no contract involved – no work that we have to perform – no rules that we have to keep – no theology that we have to adopt. Of course, there is a sort of price to pay.
